

Resources

Here's a list of additional, helpful resources from the Oklahoma College Assistance Program (OCAP) and the Oklahoma State Regents for Higher Education (OSRHE).

Workshop Materials

Counselor Toolkit

- » A packet of information for middle school counselors containing college planning resources and ideas to help keep their students engaged and thinking about education after high school.

OCAP and OSRHE Publications

- » Are You Looking for Money? – a booklet that highlights financial aid, which includes grants, scholarships and student loans.
- » Are You Ready for College? – a booklet that provides students considering college insight on income potential, career choice and choosing a college.
- » Your Money Matters – a guide highlighting budgeting, saving, college planning, student loan management, banking and consumer credit developed by Oklahoma Money Matters for high school and college students.
- » Oklahoma's Promise flyer – explains the criteria for Oklahoma's Promise, a scholarship program for Oklahoma students.
- » Do You Have a Plan for College booklet – contains important college planning information, including salary comparisons, courses to take, college requirements and types of schools. (Counselors receive a bulk supply of this publication in August each year.)
- » The Counselors' Resource Book to Oklahoma's Colleges and Universities – formerly known as The Official Guide to Oklahoma's Colleges and Universities, this publication contains an overview of higher education institutions as well as information about getting into college and paying for higher education.

Websites

- » UCanGo2.org – the official UCanGo2 program website, which contains links to resources, publications and additional information for students, counselors and parents.
- » OCAP.org – the Oklahoma College Assistance Program’s website, which contains helpful information for prospective and current students, including scholarship and federal student loan resources.
- » OKcollegestart.org – Oklahoma’s one-stop shop for college planning for students, parents and counselors, this site includes information about public and private colleges and universities across the state.
- » Okhighered.org – the Oklahoma State Regents for Higher Education website; the student section of the website directs students to various resources, including Oklahoma’s Promise and GEAR UP.
- » OklahomaMoneyMatters.org – OCAP’s financial literacy program, Oklahoma Money Matters provides families information and tools about budgeting, consumer credit, student loan management and other personal finance topics.
- » StudentAid.ed.gov – features free information from the U.S. Department of Education about preparing and paying for higher education, including information about the FAFSA.
- » MappingYourFuture.org – features information about planning, preparing and paying for college, as well as online tools for college and career preparation.